

Data Collection App – Terms and Conditions

Background

Plantwise is a global programme, led by CABI, to increase food security and improve rural livelihoods by reducing crop losses. Working in close partnership with local partners, Plantwise strengthens national plant health systems from within, enabling countries to provide farmers with the knowledge they need to lose less and feed more. This is achieved by establishing sustainable networks of local plant clinics, run by trained plant doctors, where farmers can find practical plant health advice. Plant clinics are reinforced by the Plantwise knowledge bank, a gateway to online and offline actionable plant health information, including diagnostic resources, pest management advice and front-line pest data for effective global vigilance.

The use of apps run on mobile devices can strengthen the plant clinic model by providing a streamlined method of using resource materials, recording data and submitting this data for analysis.

Usage Agreement

Requirements

- The app is compatible with the Android operating system but functionality may vary across different devices.
- The app requires sufficient credit for sending SMS messages and mobile data or WiFi for submitting data collected in the form.

Responsibility for use

- The user of the app (the 'user') is solely responsible for the appropriate and legal use of the app.
- Plantwise and CABI are released from all responsibility for the advice given and the appropriate and legal use of the app by the user and all third-parties.

Monitoring and Evaluation

- The user acknowledges that CABI needs to understand how the app is used and contribute to the current clinic model and therefore respects the right of CABI to monitor tablet use and may ask the user for their feedback.

Photos

- If the user's photos are of a publishable quality they may be used in CABI materials or publicity.

By downloading and submitting data through this app, the user agrees to the terms set out in this usage agreement.
