

Convergence of conventional and organic vegetable production in the US

Future hybrid system will combine features from both systems into one

