- 1. Tourism research can be undertaken from various perspectives, including:
 - d. All of the above
- 2. Epistemology, ontology and methodology are the three realms addressed by:
 - c. Research paradigms
- 3. Subjective methods:
 - b. Are usually more time-consuming than empirical methods
- 4. Predictive research:
 - a. Is research aimed at anticipating the likely outcome of a course of action
- 5. Typically, the phases of a research project are, in this order:
 - d. Specification of goals, review of literature, research design, analysis, conclusions, communication of results

